Organized by the Cyberspace Administration of China and the government of Zhejiang province, the 5th World Internet Conference will open in Wuzhen on Nov. 7, and it will run for three days.

Unit: percent

China’s Internet Development

According to the China Internet Network Information Center, Internet World Stats, as of June 2018, the number of Chinese websites has increased from 118 million in 2010 to 731 million in 2017.

The number of Chinese people who use the internet has also increased significantly. In 2008, there were 25.1 million internet users, but by 2017, this number had grown to 795 million, which is a 3,180 percent increase.

The percentage of people using online services has also increased. In 2008, only 21.8% of the population used online services, but by 2017, this number had risen to 48.1%.

The percentage of people who shop online has also increased significantly. In 2010, 2.1% of the population shopped online, but by 2017, this number had risen to 20.8%.

The number of people who use ride-hailing services has also increased significantly. In 2010, there were 9.7 million people who used ride-hailing services, but by 2018, this number had risen to 548 million, which is a 56,000 percent increase.

The number of people who use shared bike services has also increased significantly. In 2010, there were 0.3 million people who used shared bike services, but by 2018, this number had risen to 346 million, which is a 112,000 percent increase.

The number of people who use online payment services has also increased significantly. In 2010, there were 0.2 million people who used online payment services, but by 2018, this number had risen to 569 million, which is a 2,745,000 percent increase.

The number of people who use online government services has also increased significantly. In 2010, there were 0.1 million people who used online government services, but by 2017, this number had risen to 218.8 million, which is a 2,188,000 percent increase.

The number of people who use online education services has also increased significantly. In 2010, there were 0.1 million people who used online education services, but by 2017, this number had risen to 73.7 million, which is a 737,000 percent increase.

The number of people who use online entertainment services has also increased significantly. In 2010, there were 0.1 million people who used online entertainment services, but by 2017, this number had risen to 10.2 million, which is a 10,200 percent increase.

The number of people who use online health services has also increased significantly. In 2010, there were 0.1 million people who used online health services, but by 2017, this number had risen to 501,000, which is a 5,010,000 percent increase.

The number of people who use online shopping services has also increased significantly. In 2010, there were 0.1 million people who used online shopping services, but by 2017, this number had risen to 50 million, which is a 5,000 percent increase.

The number of people who use online financial services has also increased significantly. In 2010, there were 0.1 million people who used online financial services, but by 2017, this number had risen to 8,000, which is a 8,000 percent increase.